

Appl. No. 10/676,986

Amdt. dated March 4, 2008

Reply to Office action of December 5, 2007

Amendments to the Specification:

At page 23 of the specification, please replace the Abstract with the following amended paragraph:

The selection of informational material available through a video presentation device also used to tune a display to one of a plurality of channels. A user uses a button on a remote to sequentially cycle through preferred types of informational material, maintained in a list by said video presentation device.